
18 U.S. Code § 3510

Rights of victims to attend and observe trial

(a) Non-Capital Cases.—

Notwithstanding any statute, rule, or other provision of law, a United States district court shall not order any victim of an offense excluded from the trial of a defendant accused of that offense because such victim may, during the sentencing hearing, make a statement or present any information in relation to the sentence.

This document is only available to subscribers. Please log in or purchase access.

Purchase Login