

40 C.F.R. § 227.20

Basis for determination.

- (a) Based on current state of the art, consideration must be given to any possible long-range effects of even the most innocuous substances when dumped in the ocean on a continuing basis. Such a consideration is made in evaluating the relationship of each proposed disposal activity in relationship to its potential for long-range impact on other uses of the ocean.

This document is only available to subscribers. Please log in or purchase access.

Purchase Login