

Compliance Today – March 2019

The language of risk

---

By Gerry Zack

Please feel free to contact me anytime to share your thoughts.

- +1 612.357.1544 (Cell)
- +1 952.567.6215 (Direct)
- gerry.zack@corporatecompliance.org
- twitter.com/gerry\_zack
- linkedin.com/in/gerryzack

Whenever I travel abroad, I make sure to learn at least a few key phrases that will be helpful during my trip. Whether it's saying hello, ordering coffee (the equivalent of breathing for me), or thanking someone for giving me directions, knowing a few basic phrases helps to ensure a successful trip and to establish a good relationship with the local people I will be with during my stay.

This document is only available to members. Please log in or become a member.

Become a Member Login