

45 C.F.R. § 260.54

Do States have flexibility to grant good cause domestic violence waivers?

- (a) Yes; States have broad flexibility to grant these waivers to victims of domestic violence. For example, they may determine which program requirements to waive and decide how long each waiver might be necessary.

This document is only available to subscribers. Please log in or purchase access.

Purchase Login