

Report on Supply Chain Compliance Volume 2, Number 22. November 21, 2019

Report on North Korean sanctions reveals widespread impact on civilians

By Sascha Matuszak

Women Mobilizing to End the War, Korea Peace Now, released a report^[1] on the impact sanctions have on the common citizens of the Democratic People's Republic of North Korea. The report reveals that civilians—often women and children—suffer more than the targeted regime.

This document is only available to subscribers. Please log in or purchase access.

Purchase Login