

Report on Supply Chain Compliance Volume 2, Number 23. December 12, 2019 Huawei hopes to play key role in European Union's 5G networks

By Sascha Matuszak

Both France and Germany are considering using Huawei-manufactured components and base stations in their burgeoning 5G networks. Although opposition exists in both countries to cooperate with Huawei due to national security concerns, many of Huawei's partners are European. Huawei has no serious competition when it comes to manufacturing hardware for 5G networks.

This document is only available to subscribers. Please log in or purchase access.

Purchase Login