

Compliance and Ethics in a Post COVID-19 World

Josh Clemens, Director of Compliance, Compliance & Privacy Officer, Boys and Girls Village, Inc..

February 18, 2021

- Discuss the changes in business and the likely long-term implications for compliance post COVID-19 in the new “normal”
- Outline strategies to leverage pandemic language and ensure positive changes in ethics or compliance made during the pandemic stay embedded in culture long term
- Discuss cautionary tales as businesses transition out of the pandemic and risks created by the pandemic such as slim margins, supply chain disruption, higher personal and organizational debt, and pandemic stress fatigue

This document is only available to subscribers

Purchase