

Report on Supply Chain Compliance Volume 3, Number 6. March 19, 2020

Data protection concerns in a viral world

By Sascha Matuszak

The Italian data protection authority released an update^[1] March 2 regarding the processing of employee health data by their employers. The guidance places the responsibility for collecting health information related to the new coronavirus outbreak with local and federal government health officials, not the employers. The guidance states:

This document is only available to subscribers. Please log in or purchase access.

Purchase Login