

Apply Change Management For An Even More Effective Compliance Program

Deborah Schreiber, Change Practioner, United Health Group.

2022-09-22

- Explore why some corrective action plans, regulatory changes, or process / technology enhancements fail to deliver the expected outcomes despite great project management.
- Learn how to pay more attention to the people-side of change, and how to better support the individuals who need to behave or do their jobs differently to get better compliance results.
- Come away with some specific strategies and tactics you can use to help employees at all levels understand why change is needed, how the change will impact them, and what they need to do differently to achieve improved compliance outcomes.

This document is only available to subscribers

Purchase