

CEP Magazine – June 2020 Lessons learned from an empty office

By Gerry Zack

Please feel free to contact me anytime to share your thoughts.

- +1 612.357.1544 (cell)
- +1 952.567.6215 (direct)
- gerry.zack@corporatecompliance.org

As I write this column, we are in the midst of a terrible pandemic. I sincerely hope that, by the time you read this, things will have begun improving, but nobody knows for sure. The SCCE & HCCA office is empty, as are many of yours, as we operate under a state-imposed shelter-in-place order.

Sudden, significant disruptions like the COVID-19 pandemic trigger a variety of changes in an organization's compliance risk profile. New risks emerge from rapidly passed legislation, new regulations, and nonregulatory guidance. Some compliance risks may be relaxed, while others change.

This document is only available to members. Please log in or become a member.

Become a Member Login