

Report on Supply Chain Compliance Volume 3, Number 12. June 11, 2020 ACLU lawsuit invokes Illinois facial protection law

After a report in The New York Times^[1] detailed how Clearview AI, an artificial intelligence start-up, scraped photos from the internet to create faceprints that could be used with powerful facial recognition technology, the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) filed a lawsuit^[2] in Illinois seeking a court order to forbid scraping photos without explicit consent.

This document is only available to subscribers. Please log in or purchase access.

Purchase Login