

Report on Supply Chain Compliance Volume 3, Number 17. September 03, 2020 Facebook looks to settle lawsuit for USD 650 million

By Sascha Matuszak

A lawsuit filed in Illinois alleged that Facebook illegally collected and stored biometric data of millions of users without their consent in violation of the state's Biometric Information Privacy Act.^[1] Facebook was able to collect and store the data through a function that allowed users to recognize and tag friends. The company has offered USD 650 million to settle the lawsuit, and the court has agreed preliminarily to the offer.

This document is only available to subscribers. Please log in or purchase access.

Purchase Login