

Sexual Harassment and Abuse: From Awakening to Organizational Response – Experience from within the United Nations System

Katrina Campbell, Consultant, Campbell Ethics Consulting. Cedric Bourgeoiss, Principal Investigator, UNESCO.

September 15, 2020

- The global awakening lead to strengthening the organizational responses, from more robust policies and prevention to investigation of incidents
- This session will explore through real life examples how organizations can live up to the expectations of stake holders in the post-#MeToo era
- UNESCO, as part of the United Nations system and the development community is particularly exposed to sexual harassment and abuses in its operations, and therefore developed policies and practices that the #MeToo movement tested and eventually strengthened

This document is only available to subscribers

Purchase