

Effective Partnership Strategies with Your Board of Directors

---

John Fons. Michael Volkov, CEO, Volkov Law Group LLC.

September 16, 2020

- Chief Compliance Officers must develop an effective working relationship with its Board of Directors to ensure that the company's compliance program has adequate authority, resources and independence
- Recent court decisions -- Marchand v. Barnhill and Clovis Oncology, Inc. Derivative Litigation -- have increased risks for individual Board member liability; as a result, CCOs must train board members on proper oversight and monitoring functions
- Given this new environment, this session will identify positive strategies to increase board engagement, ensure effective reporting, and increase overall board support of the compliance function

This document is only available to subscribers

Purchase